

Meeting Male Youth Where They're At: Effective Work with Boys & Young Men

Jon Gilgoff, LCSW

- Raise awareness to challenges facing low-income urban male youth of color
- Learn how to provide effective gender responsive services to this population, including the Brothers on the Rise model
- Review and practice skills for group and individual treatment with male youth
- Create a plan to integrate learning into your day to day work

August 17th
9:00-5:00

Fred Finch
Youth Center
3800 Coolidge Ave
Oakland
Training Institute

This training is presented in partnership with Chabot Las Positas Community College and Alameda and Solano Counties.

This course meets the qualifications for 7BBS CEUs for LCSWs and MFTs as required by the California Board of Behavioral Sciences & is provided by Fred Finch Youth Center, Provider #3019.

This workshop is open to those who work with foster youth in Alameda and Solano Counties. To register for this FREE workshop, please email trainings@fredfinch.org.
Space is limited.

Jon Gilgoff, L.C.S.W., Brothers on the Rise Founder and Executive Director: For over ten years, Jon has designed, delivered and directed responsible empowerment programs for males in schools, community centers, foster care agencies, residential and detention facilities. He is a Licensed Social Worker, a fluent Spanish speaker, a D.C. Court trained Mediator, a published writer in newspapers and journals, and a trainer and consultant locally, nationally and abroad. He has served on YNPN's Advisory Board and been a Bowne Foundation and Progressive Jewish Alliance Fellow. He holds his B.A. from Tufts University and his M.S.W. from Columbia University. He is a proud member of the Alameda County Urban Male Health Initiative and is working toward his Certificate in Nonprofit Management at CSU, East Bay. In his spare time, Jon likes basketball, hiking, writing, yoga, live music, dancing, learning and laughing.